Changing the Legacy of Race & Ethnicity Panel Discussion on Dec. 12 – Exploring Culturally Fluent Healthcare

GREENWOOD VILLAGE, CO

Colorado Humanities is hosting a community panel discussion, Exploring Culturally Fluent Healthcare, focused on addressing equity challenges, representation in healthcare, impacts of Covid, and barriers to access. Join Colorado Humanities and panelists on December 12 at 7 p.m. in the Atlas Theater in Greeley to learn more about what's happening with equity in Colorado care. This is the second panel to be held in person. Previous conversations can be viewed on the Colorado Humanities YouTube channel and Facebook page.

Panelists Adeo Executive Director Dr. Sarita Reddy, The Colorado Health Foundation President & CEO Dr. Karen McNeil-Miller, and University of Northern Colorado College of Osteopathic Medicine Founding Dean Beth Longenecker will discuss equity challenges, representation in healthcare, impacts of Covid, and barriers to access. SummitStone Health Partners Chief Medical Officer and North Colorado Health Alliance Assistant Medical Director Dr. Lesley Brooks is moderating this discussion.

About Colorado Humanities

Colorado Humanities joins with hundreds of program partners statewide to design and provide education resources and programs in history, reading, early childhood education, and writing, and offers opportunities for conversations about challenging questions facing our communities. Colorado Humanities also partners with many Greeley organizations and individuals to offer High Plains Chautauqua, Young Chautauqua, and Motherread/Fatheread Colorado in Weld County. Colorado Humanities is always looking for ways to make its programs more relevant, accessible, inclusive, and effective and urges all Coloradans to engage in lifelong education, contemplation, and conversation to help Colorado create a strong and vibrant democracy. Colorado Humanities partners with the National Endowment for the Humanities and the Smithsonian Institution, and is an affiliate of the Library of Congress Center for the Book.

About the Changing the Legacy of Race & Ethnicity Series

Changing the Legacy of Race & Ethnicity is a conversation series initiated by Colorado Humanities and implemented with partners to encourage understanding and discussion about the legacy of race and ethnicity in America, and how Coloradans can work together to make changes now for a more just future. This program was prompted by summer 2020 events, when several violent acts of racism sparked an awakening in America and the streets were filled with passionate advocates who demanded the end of police brutality and systemic racism.
